

Puppy Purchase Agreement and Two Year Genetic Health Guarantee

RED RANCH DOGS • Version September 17, 2026

This Agreement is between Red Ranch Dogs (Seller) and the individual signing below (Buyer). By signing, Buyer agrees to the terms below for the identified puppy. This version applies when signed by the parties and does not amend any previously signed agreement.

Buyer name: _____

Puppy name or ID: _____ Microchip: _____

Purchase price: _____ Pickup or delivery date: _____

Seller responsibility

Health at pickup. Seller guarantees that the puppy is in good health, apart from potential intestinal parasites, and has received age-appropriate vaccinations, a microchip, deworming, and a puppy veterinary exam report.

Microchip registration. Seller completes microchip registration and provides the information to Buyer by email.

Two year genetic health guarantee

Coverage period. Coverage begins on the date Buyer takes possession of the puppy at pickup or delivery and continues for two years. The qualifying condition must be diagnosed during this coverage period. The notification period below still applies to a diagnosis made near the end of coverage.

Covered conditions. Subject to the exclusions and requirements in this Agreement, the guarantee covers a serious inherited condition or a congenital defect present at birth that is life-threatening or prevents the dog from functioning as a companion pet. A licensed veterinarian must confirm the diagnosis and its inherited or congenital nature. This is not a promise that the dog will never become ill.

Excluded conditions. The guarantee excludes viral illness, infections, improper bites, stress conditions, hernias, hypoglycemia, parasites, cancer, endocrine disorders, and conditions caused by injury, toxins, or foreign objects. These exclusions apply even if an excluded condition has an inherited or congenital component.

Individual hernia arrangements. Any voluntary contribution by Seller toward a particular puppy's hernia repair must be agreed separately in writing, including the amount. It does not change the standard exclusion or create a general promise to pay for repairs.

Claims and replacement

How to notify Seller. Buyer must notify Seller within seven calendar days of a licensed veterinarian's diagnosis of a potentially covered condition. Buyer must provide the written diagnosis and supporting veterinary records as they become available. The complete testing or records packet does not have to be available within those seven days.

Veterinary evidence. Records must support the diagnosis, severity, and inherited or congenital nature of the condition. Seller may request a second veterinary opinion at Seller's expense.

If the dog dies. A necropsy is not automatically required. Seller may request one if existing veterinary records do not establish whether the death resulted from a covered condition. Seller pays the agreed cost of a necropsy or additional diagnostic testing specifically requested by Seller. Buyer should contact Seller promptly before cremation or disposal so any necessary examination can be discussed and arranged.

Urgent care and euthanasia. Buyer should consult Seller before euthanasia whenever reasonably possible. Buyer must not delay emergency veterinary care or humane euthanasia recommended by the attending veterinarian to obtain Seller's permission. If prior consultation is not reasonably possible, Buyer must notify Seller as soon as reasonably possible and provide the available veterinary records. Lack of advance consultation in those circumstances does not by itself void coverage.

What an eligible family receives. When a claim meets the coverage terms and requirements, Seller will provide a replacement puppy from a future litter of equal or lesser value than the original puppy's purchase price. Color and sex are not guaranteed, and placement depends on future litter availability. Buyer is not required to surrender the original dog to receive the replacement.

Veterinary and transport expenses. The guarantee provides a replacement puppy, not reimbursement of routine care, examinations, treatment, or other general veterinary expenses after the puppy leaves Seller. The exceptions are the second opinion and additional testing specifically requested by Seller as described above, or a separate written contribution agreed by Seller. Original shipping costs are nonrefundable; replacement shipping and transportation costs are Buyer's responsibility.

Nontransferable coverage. This guarantee applies only to the original Buyer and is not transferable. Its requirements include the spay or neuter agreement below. No additional guarantees are made by this Agreement.

Spay and neuter agreement

The puppy must be spayed or neutered, including gonad-sparing surgery, by 18 months of age. Buyer must submit proof to Seller. Failure to provide proof voids the health guarantee. The puppy is sold as a companion pet only, with no breeding rights.

Buyer responsibility

Purchase and transportation. Buyer agrees to pay the total purchase price listed by Seller at the time of sale. Shipping and transport fees are separate. Buyer assumes the costs and risks of transportation and accepts responsibility for the puppy once it leaves Seller.

Initial veterinary exam. Buyer is encouraged to have the puppy examined by a licensed veterinarian within three business days to establish initial health records. If Buyer does not complete this exam, Buyer acknowledges that the puppy was healthy at pickup and accepts responsibility for environmental or stress-related conditions afterward. The two-year genetic health guarantee remains in effect, subject to its terms.

Parasites. Buyer accepts responsibility for medical expenses related to intestinal parasites, including repeat treatments. Parasites may be contagious; Buyer agrees to clean feces promptly and prevent other dogs from ingesting it.

Lifelong care. Buyer agrees to provide indoor housing, premium nutrition, healthy weight maintenance, annual wellness exams, prompt veterinary care, up-to-date immunizations, and heartworm prevention where applicable.

Training and exercise. Basic obedience training within the first year is recommended. Buyer agrees to postpone strenuous or forced exercise until the puppy is over one year old to protect developing joints.

Rehoming and microchip. Buyer must contact Seller immediately if unable to keep the puppy so Buyer and Seller can determine rehoming steps. Buyer must never surrender the dog to a shelter, rescue, pound, or research facility. Buyer is responsible for transferring the microchip registration if the dog is rehomed, sold, gifted, or otherwise transferred.

Nonhealth returns. If the puppy is returned for a reason unrelated to the two-year health guarantee, Buyer will receive a refund of the purchase price minus the nonrefundable $500 deposit. Buyer covers all transportation costs and must return the puppy directly to Seller.

Public photos and videos. Buyer grants Seller permission to use images or videos of the dog posted publicly on social media for marketing purposes.
